Bull Fighting in Spain

Itinerary:
1730- Departs Naval Station, Bldg 48
1800- Arrives in El Puerto de Santa Maria
1900- Bullfight begins
2230- Departs El Puerto de Santa Maria
2300- Arrives Naval Station, Bldg 48

Bull fighting

Bull fighting is a sport very closely associated with Spain, and its origins trace back to 711 A.D. This is when the first bullfight took place in celebration of the crowning of King Alfonso VIII. It is very popular in Spain with several thousand Spaniards flocking to their local bull-rings. The total number of people watching bullfights in Spain reaches one million every year.

Bull fighting was originally a sport for the aristocratic and took place on horseback. King Felipe V, however, took exception to the sport and banned the aristocracy from taking part believing it to be a bad example to the public. After the ban, commoners accepted the sport as their own and since they could not afford horses, they developed the practice of dodging the bulls on foot unarmed. This transformation occurred around 1724.

What happens during a bullfight?

First the bull is let into the ring. Then the top bullfighter, the Matador, watches his chief assistant wave a bright yellow and magenta cape in front of the bull to make it charge. He watches this in order to determine the bull's qualities and mood, before taking over himself. Then a trumpet is sounded and several fighters called Picadores weaken the bull by placing spears into it. This takes around 10 minutes. Another trumpet is sounded and the Matador now removes his black winged hat and dedicates the death of the bull to the president or the crowd before beginning his faena.

The faena is the most beautiful and skillful part of the fight when the matador must prove his courage and artistry. The faena consists of the Matador being on foot and carrying a muleta, a piece of thick crimson cloth draped over a short stick. The muleta can be held in either the left hand or draped over the espada, the killing sword, which is always held in the right hand. Usually the muleta is first held in front of the matador to make the bull charge and is then swung across and away from the matador's body hopefully taking the bull with it. This is a show, basically a dance with death - one wrong move and the Matador could become impaled on the horns of the bull. It is the Matador's job to make this dance dramatic and enjoyable for the audience. The faena continues until the Matador has demonstrated his superiority over the bull. Once this is achieved the bull is ready to be killed.

The matador stands about ten feet from the bull keeping the bull fixated on the muleta and aims the espada between the shoulder blades. The matador then attacks pushing the espada over the horns and deep between the shoulder blades. If the sword goes in to the hilt it is an estocada, but if it hits bone it is a pinchazo or media-estocada. An estocada usually results in the bull dropping immediately to its knees and dying, but if the bull fails to... die, the matador may take the descabello (a sword with a short cross piece at the end) which he stabs into the bull's neck severing the spinal cord. Then the fight is over.

The matador may be awarded trophies by the president (director of the bull fight), according to his skills in killing the bull, which can be one or two ears from the bull, and the tail. The crowd will often encourage the president to award the trophies by waving white handkerchiefs, and this waving continues after the trophies have been awarded in an attempt to get the matador to throw his trophies into the crowd. The crowd in return hurls flowers which are collected by the matador's assistants. If whistling is heard at a bullfight, it signifies disapproval of either the bull's presence in the ring or their displeasure with the president because he didn't award a trophy.
CÁDIZ “The Oldest Permanently Inhabited City in Western Europe”

Cadiz dates back to 1100 BC when it was founded by the Phoenicians. It hit its peak during the time of Christopher Columbus when he departed from Cadiz for his second and fourth voyages to the “New World.” Cadiz became the home port to the Spanish treasure fleet and received approximately 75% of the Spanish trade with America. During this time, Cadiz grew into one of the wealthiest and most cosmopolitan cities in Spain.

CORDOBA
This city was originally inhabited by the Romans, however, it became more famous as a hub for the Moors. Cordoba happened to be the western capital of the Islamic empire during the 10th century. To this day, the Moorish occupancy remains evident with Moorish structures that still exist in the city.

POINTS OF INTEREST

La Mezquita Cathedral
Hours of Operation: Oct - Mar: Mon - Sat 1000 - 1800 and Sun 1530-1730 and Apr - Sept on Mon - Sat 1000-1900 and Sun 1530-1900
La Mezquita is a colossal, 10th century bastion in Cordoba, which is said to be the third largest place of worship in the world. La Mezquita was formerly a mosque consisting of several arches and over a hundred columns. The architectural design of this bastion is a mixture of Roman, Gothic, Byzantine, Syrian, and Persian fundamentals. La Mezquita was sanctified as a cathedral when the Christians took over the Moorish empire in Cordoba in 1236.

Alcázar de los Reyes Cristianos (Palace of the Christian Kings)
Hours of Operation: Oct – Apr Tues-Sat 1000-1400 and 1630-1830; May/Jun/Sept Tues-Sat 1000-1400 and 1730-1930; Jul – Aug on Tue-Sat from 0830-1430 and 2000-2400
Alcazar de los Reyes Cristianos or The Palace of the Christian Kings was re-erected in the year 1328 by King Alfonso XI, the Spanish King of Castile and Leon. The entire castle covers over 4,000 square meters and in its interiors are impressive Arabian baths, Roman mosaics and a sarcophagus of marble from the 3rd century.

La Judería (Jewish Quarter)
Hours of Operation: Tues-Sa from 0930-1430 and 1530-1730; Sun 0930-1400
During the days of the Romans and the Goths, this Jewish area served a purpose of imperative cultural and scholarly value. Several shrines are found here to pay homage to the prominent people of Cordoba from past generations. Presently a few tabernacles from the ancient times still exist in the Juderia. This is also an ideal spot to find outlets of jewelers and silversmiths.

ADDITIONAL POINTS OF INTEREST
- Puente Romano and Río Guadalquivir – The Roman Bridge is a two way passage over the Guadalquivir river that consists of 16 arcs with asymmetrical molds.
- Torre de la Calahorra - an Arabian structure located at the southern end of Puente Romano.
- Museo Arqueológico - found inside the magnificent Renaissance Palace.
- Museo Julio Romero de Torres - dedicated to display the works of the said painter.
- Museo de Bellas Artes

LOCAL CULTURE
Immerse yourself in Cordoba’s Moorish Past. Shop in the city’s many Moorish-themed stores, enjoy a meal with Moorish influence or head to the hammam (Arabic bath) to relax and unwind.

Purchase some local handicrafts. Cordoba is known for its leather, painted ceramics and silver jewelry. Many of the shops surrounding the Mezquita have numerous objects for purchase.
Enjoy a snack in the shadow of the Mezquita. Bar Santos is a small bar well-known for its bocadillo (sandwiches). Set on the corner, the common overflow spot is the steps of the Mezquita.

FESTIVALS AND EVENTS
Festival of Patios - 2nd week of May (usually starts on the first Wednesday of the month). This event aims to highlight the marvelous courtyards of Cordoba.

Cruces de Mayo (Crosses of May Festival) - celebrated annually on the 1st, 2nd and 3rd day of May. During this time, the whole town is decked out with crosses and an enormous quantity of flowers.

Feria de Cordoba (Summer Feria) - last week of May. This is regarded as a festival of Flamenco music and dance.

TRAVEL TIPS
Seeing all the sights in one day. Be cautious of opening and closing times for each tourist sight. If you’d like to see the Mezquita and the Alcazar, head to the Alcazar first which takes a siesta (closed 1400-1630 or 1730) while the Mezquita stays open throughout the day.

Wear comfortable shoes. Though the old town is relatively small, prepare yourself for plenty of walking by wearing comfortable shoes.

Avoid gypsy women trying to “give” you rosemary for donations. Politely say, “No, gracias,” and walk away.

OTHER SITES

- Arab baths - The building that houses the Arab Baths dates back to the XIII-XIV century, and water wells were found during the archaeological excavations. Both the structure of the building and its proximity to the former mosque leads them to think that they were used in public baths. They think the current building of the Arab baths is settled on an ancient hammam.
- Meander through the old quarter of Albaycin
- The overlook at San Nicholas Mirador with its views of la Alhambra
- Sacromonte (the heart of the Gypsy quarter) the traditional neighborhood of the Granada’s gypsies, is where you can take in an Andalusian flamenco show.
- Sierra Nevada Mountains Sierra Nevada lodges the highest summits of the Iberian Peninsula and it has the main ski resort of the south of Europe.

FESTIVAL AND EVENTS

Granada music festival - This annual festival offers visitors the chance to see Granada transform itself into an endless stage graced by ancient music, chamber and symphony performances and local flamenco.

Semana Santa - Holy week in Granada is one of the city’s most deeply rooted traditions and is the one which attracts the largest number of visitors. Thirty-two brotherhoods set out on their processions on Palm Sunday and Resurrection Sunday. The Gypsy processions are famous as they come down from Sacromonte with heavy floats playing devotional songs. The Silence or El Silencio is when street lights are switched off as the procession passes by and it goes around the Alhambra, winds its way around the Nazarene monument, and continues along the famous Puerta de la Justicia.
Reyes Magos (Three Kings) – On Jan 5th, children particularly welcome the arrival of the Three Kings with a big parade called the Cabalgata de los Reyes Magos, where the 3 Biblical monarchs process through the city accompanied by a whole entourage of colorful characters. The next morning, January 6, is like the Spanish equivalent of Christmas day in the United States- full of presents begging to be opened!

Nochevieja (New Year’s Eve) - After a big family meal, young people take to the streets and head to Granada's main public squares- particularly the one in front of the Ayuntamiento (City Hall). The Spanish tradition is to eat twelve grapes-one with each chime of the clock- before uncorking the champagne and toasting everyone around you!

Festival de San Cecilio – On Feb 2nd, a celebration of the feast day of San Cecilio, Granada's patron saint, is held. A mass is held in the Abadía del Sacromonte (Sacromonte Abbey). Another big highlight of the festival is the gastronomic competitions- a great way to try the best of Granada's mouth-watering food!

Grazalema “A Hiker’s Paradise”

Grazalema is known for being one of the wettest villages in Spain due to its microclimatic position. It is a classic white village with white washed houses, cobbled narrow streets, and iron balconies. Traditionally, the economy of the village relied on small-scale agriculture, sheep herding, cork harvesting, and handicrafts. These activities are now quite limited and under-resourced. Due to the location of Grazalema in the middle of the Sierra de Grazalema Natural Park, and because the town is one of the pueblos blancos (white villages of Andalusia), tourism now plays a major role in sustaining the village. The mountainous area around Grazalema is popular with climbers and hikers, and local people make money by providing accommodations and hospitality to visitors.

Grazalema Natural Park
This 51,695 hectare park is famous for its spectacularly rugged limestone landscape of cliffs, gullies, caves, and gorges. The trails that fall within the national park require a permit. These trails include El Torreon, El Pinsapar, Garganta Verde, and Llano de Ravel. Permits are required to limit the number of visitors to some areas. Passport information is needed along with dates on which day you wish to enter and with how many people. The walking routes of Pinsapar and Torreon are closed each July - September to protect them from fire.

Plaza de España - In the heart of the village is this attractive main square lined with bars and restaurants. Here you will find many other points of interest: the Church of La Aurora is from the 18th-century, the town hall (ayuntamiento), and the parish church, Iglesia de la Encarnación.

The Tourist Information Center – here you can find guide books, maps, and other information sources. They have local artisan products and display exhibitions of artwork and photography too. They can also arrange your entrance permits for the restricted areas of the national park.

OTHER SIGHTS

• Iglesia de San José - a former 17th century Carmelite convent with paintings by a disciple of Murillo.
• Puerto del Boyar Mirador – this lookout is outside of Grazalema and has a 7 km walking trail leading to another white village, Benaocaz.
• Pinsapo fir trees – these trees are usually found in cold areas. Due to the location of Grazalema, these prehistoric trees can be found in abundance in the national park and a few around town. It is recorded as being prehistoric because it is the only tree to have survived the last ice age.

LOCAL CULTURE

Purchase some local goods. Grazalema is also known for its wool products which are made in little stores around the city. The surrounding countryside produces honey, jams, olive oil and more. The easiest place to purchase all these items is in their local store, Todo Sierra.

Hike to the top of the hill. Above the city, there is a small mirador. Be advised that it is all uphill and requires sturdy shoes. It is also recommended that you take water with you.
FESTIVALS AND EVENTS
Last Sunday in May - Romería of San Isidro Labrador celebrates the arrival of summer.
June 13 - the village celebrates Benamahoma, the fiesta in honor of its patron, San Antonio.
Third week of July - the Fiestas of Carmen
First Sunday in August - Benamahoma celebrates the festival of Moors and Christians
Third week of August - the most important agricultural festivals in Grazalema are held.
September 8 - the day of the Virgin of the Angeles, who is the patron saint of Grazalema.

TRAVELER TIPS
Wear comfortable walking shoes. This town is hilly and some surfaces are uneven.

Be cautious of cyclist while driving to Grazalema. The winding mountain road is a popular place for cyclists to ride, but can also be very dangerous.

Las Fallas: A Fiery Festival!
Las Fallas is a traditional Valencian celebration in praise of Saint Joseph. The term Fallas or “Falles” refers to both the celebration and the monuments that are created for and then destroyed during the festivities. These flammable monuments, up to 5 stories tall, are often satirical, parodying political and cultural figures, although cartoon characters and popular icons also abound.

During the festival, the city resembles an open-air nightclub with the sound of fireworks instead of music. Stalls sell products such as the typical fried snacks xurros (churros) and bunyols (fried pastries), as well as roast chestnuts and various trinkets.

The five days and nights of Las Fallas are one continuous celebration with processions galore – historical processions, religious processions, and hysterical processions. The restaurants spill out to the streets and children and adults wear elaborate festival dress. Explosions can be heard all day long and sporadically through the night with everyone from small children to elderly gentlemen throwing fireworks in the streets, which are littered with pyrotechnical debris.

HISTORY
One theory of the history of the festival suggests that Las Fallas started in the Middle Ages, when artisans burned leftover pieces of winter wood to celebrate the spring equinox. During the winter, Valencian carpenters used planks of wood (called “parots”) to hold candles for light to work by. In the spring, the no longer necessary parots were burned.

With time, and the intervention of the Church, the date of the burning of these parots came to coincide with the celebration of the festival of Saint Joseph, the patron saint of the carpenters. Las Fallas evolved as the parots were first dressed to look like figures and then given features to mimic some known person. Wax and cardboard were added, and neighborhoods joined together to create more elaborate fallas than their neighbors.

Today, an entire suburban area of Valencia is dedicated to the creation of the fallas with crews of artists, sculptors, and painters spending months building the more than 500 fallas of the Valencian celebration.

FESTIVAL DATES & TIMES
Dates: March 15-19 in Valencia
Locations: Las Fallas is common throughout the entire province but the one in Valencia is by far the largest!
EVENTS

La Despertà (0800 every morning): Each day of Falles begins with la despertà ("the wake-up call"). Brass bands march down every road playing lively music. Close behind them, the fallers throw large firecrackers in the street as they go.

La Mascletà (1400 every afternoon): The Mascletà is an explosive display of co-ordinated fireworks barrages, taking place in each neighbourhood at 2pm every day of the festival. The main event is the municipal Mascleta in the Plaça de l'Ajuntament where the pyrotechnicians compete for the honor of providing the final Mascleta of the festival on March 19th. The Mascletà is unique to Valencia, with smaller neighborhoods often holding their own mascletas.

L'Ofrenda Floral (17th and 18th): Each falla casal takes an offering of flowers to the virgin throughout the days of March 17th and 18th. The virgin's body is then constructed with these flowers.

Els Castells and La Nit del Foc (15th – 18th): On the nights of the 15th – 18th, there are fireworks displays in the old riverbed in Valencia. Each night is progressively grander and the last is called La Nit del Foc ("the night of fire").

La Cremà (midnight of the 19th): The festival reaches its culmination on El Dia de San José (Day of St. Joseph). On the final night of Las Fallas, around midnight on March 19th, the falles are burnt as huge bonfires. This is known as the cremà ("the burning") and is of course the climax of the whole event, and the reason why the constructions are called falles ("torches"). Traditionally, the falla in the Plaça de l'Ajuntament at the city center is burned last. Many neighborhoods have a falla infantil, a smaller children's falla without satirical themes, which burnt first at 10pm.

Madrid “Spain’s Capital”
The capital of Spain, Madrid is located in the center of the peninsula and has a population of over three million people. It is a cosmopolitan city, a business center, headquarters for the Public Administration, Government, Spanish Parliament, and the home of the Spanish Royal Family. Madrid plays a major role in both the banking and industrial sectors, but is also characterized by intense cultural and artistic activity and has a very lively nightlife.

POINTS OF INTEREST
Palacio Real (Royal Palace)
Visit the royal palace of the King and Queen of Spain, which is now only used for state ceremonies. The massive complex is not the palace that you would expect, gaudy royalty, but interesting at the same time. The most fascinating part is the royal armory where they display the armor worn by kings (adult and child alike) and their horses.

Prado Museum
It features one of the world's finest collections of European art, from the 12th century to the early 19th century, based on the former Spanish Royal Collection.

Mueso Nacional Centro de Arte Reina Sophia
Hours of Operation: Mon-Sat: 1000-2100, Sun: 1000-1430 and closed Tues.
A contemporary art museum that is best known for having Picasso’s “Guernica.” Picasso had stated that the artwork would not be allowed into the country until it was returned to democracy.

Thyssen-Bornemisza Museum
There are a large number of paintings from Italian, German, Flemish, Dutch and American artists including works from van Dyck, Brueghel, Rubens, Rembrandt, Titian, Dürer and Derick Baegert, Mondriaan, Picasso, O'Keefe and Kandinsky.

Parque del Buen Retiro
A wonderful park filled with beautiful sculptures and monuments, galleries, a peaceful lake and host to a variety of events. Great place to relax, have a drink, or go for a walk.

OTHER SIGHTS
- Gran Via – famous street in Madrid full of luxury hotels, hostals, high fashion, and cheap tacky stores. A little bit of everything!
- Plaza Mayor - the epicenter of Madrid and a nice place to sit outdoor and have a café con leche.
- El Rastro Market – a popular and crowded Sunday flea market opened from 0800 – 1300.
- The Plaza de España - one of Madrid's largest and most popular squares.

LOCAL CULTURE
Sample Spain's tapas. The newly reopened Mercado San Miguel is a foodie’s heaven. Set in a refurbished 1916 building, the public market is buzzing from 1000 until almost midnight. The focus here is not purchasing food to take home and cook but sampling the cuisine. It has tapas available for purchase from all over Spain. There are numerous wine stalls selling wine by the glass, pastry shops, bread and even an oyster bar. Stop by for a drink, lunch or quick bite before dinner.
Quench your cravings for American food! Typically we promote enjoying the local cuisine but we’ll make a rare exception for Hard Rock Café! What’s better than some southwest appetizers, a hefty hamburger and a cold American brew. Satisfy all your cravings while listening to rock n’ roll in this iconic restaurant.

Take a day trip. There are several historical towns that can be done as day trips from Madrid. Toledo, Segovia, Pamplona and Zaragoza to name a few! If you enjoy Spanish wine, you could head into the Rioja region and participate in a winery tour.

FESTIVALS AND EVENTS
Large American and European bands stop in Madrid for performance. You can checkout upcoming concerts on Ticketmaster España at www.ticketmaster.es

New Year’ Eve is celebrated at Puerta del Sol where thousands flock together waiting for midnight when everybody tries to eat twelve grapes… bringing good luck for the coming year.

January 5th - Three Kings Day; as in other cities of Spain, there is a procession of the three Magi.

May 15th - Fiesta de San Isidro to the honor of Madrid's patron, one of the best events of the year with numerous concerts and other kinds of public performances.

July and August - Series of cultural events are held called Veranos de la Villa, "Summer in the Village".

August 6-15th- the festival Verbena de la Paloma; shows best the popular traditions of Madrid.

September the concert houses and theaters have their best performances, while in November you may visit Madrid's International Jazz-Festival. In December there is an exposition of Christmas cribs at Plaza Mayor.

TRAVELER TIP
Shoppers beware…the market is crawling with pickpockets, so keep a tight hold on your belongings and don't keep valuables in easy-to-reach pockets.

Malaga
City, seaport, and holiday resort in southern Spain on the Mediterranean Sea, Malaga is the capital city of the Costa del Sol. Birthplace of Picasso, the attractive, cosmopolitan city of Malaga lies on a beautiful bay in Andalucía. Blessed with sunshine and a spectacular quality of light, Malaga is a city of wide boulevards, swaying palm trees, lively nightlife, good museums, and excellent seafood restaurants.

POINTS OF INTEREST

La Alcazaba
Hours of operation: Closed on Mon; Oct – Apr 0930–1800; Jun–Sept 0930–2000
A short walk up from the Plaza de Aduana are the solid fortified walls of La Alcazaba, a major landmark of the city. This fortress dates back to the 700s, although much of the current structure belongs to the mid 11th century. The entrance is through the gateway known as the Puerta del Cristo (Christ’s Door), where the first mass was celebrated following the Christian victory over the town.

Castillo de Gibralfaro
Hours of operation: daily from 0900–1745
The castle is famous for being the site of a three-month siege by the citizens of Malaga against the Catholic monarchs, Ferdinand and Isabella. This magnificent building dates back to the beginning of the 14th century when it was built by Yusef 1 of Granada on a former Phoenician site and lighthouse from which the castle's name was derived “gebel-faro” (rock of the lighthouse).

“La Manquita” Cathedral
Closed on Sun; Mon–Fri: 1000 – 1845; Sat 1000–1745
Malaga’s cathedral was built between 1528 and 1782 on or near the site of a former mosque. While original plans had allowed for two towers, lack of funds resulted in the completion of only one. This resulted in the name by which the cathedral which is affectionately referred to as “La Manquita,” which loosely translates to "one armed woman." The mixture of styles is very apparent with a predominance of the Renaissance style. The lower parts are Gothic, while the coverings and facades are Baroque.

Picasso Museum
Closed on Mon; Tues-Thurs: 1000-2000; Fri-Sat: 1000-2100; Sun and Holidays: 1000-2000 (Palacio de Buenavista, c/ San Agustín, 8)
The museum, funded by the Junta de Andalucía with the support of heirs of the Andalucian artist, is the fulfillment of a lifelong dream of Picasso. It displays classic Picasso works, sketches, and ceramics as well as excellent temporary exhibitions.

OTHER SIGHTS
- Casa Natal (Birthplace of Picasso) - exhibition rooms as well as pictures and a view of how life was for the artist in his early years in Malaga (located in Plaza de la Merced)
- The Roman Theater - located just below La Alcazaba, was not discovered until 1951. It hasn't been used since the 3rd century and the Moors used elements from the Theater in the construction of La Alcazaba.
- Botanical Gardens Finca la Concepcion – on the north side of the city (closed on Mondays)
- Marqués de Larios, Málaga’s swanky shopping street, is traffic-free and luxurious with glossy marble pavements and expensive shops. On either side are alleyways and tiny squares with a number of churches and museums all within close range.
• Tivoli World - a theme park with many exciting rides. There are daily shows varying from Andalucian flamenco, Wild West Shows, and an open-air theatre presenting live music, ballet and children’s specials.
• Beaches - The city of Malaga has three different types of beaches: the eastern beaches; the second group of beaches comprises those that extend from the Port of Malaga to the Pleasure Port of El Candado.

LOCAL CULTURE
Enjoy the gastronomy and wine of Malaga. Most popular food includes pescaíto frito (fried fish) and espeto of sardines. Malaga is known for its Quita penas which is a sweet wine only made here. Cartojoal wine is a famous wine served during the feria of Malaga.

FESTIVALS AND SPECIAL EVENTS
Semana Santa (Holy Week) – week prior to Easter Sunday
Feria of Malaga (two locations: downtown & feria grounds) – Mid-August

TRAVEL TIPS
Avoid the gypsy women trying to “give” you rosemary for a donation. Remember that shops close for siesta so try to hit stores early. Find a tourist office for a city map and suggested walking tours. Wear comfortable shoes for all the walking you will be doing and for climbing the steep paths of the Alcazaba.

TRANSPORTATION
By car: approximately 2 hours and 45 minutes. Visit www.viamichelin.com for driving directions. You may also inquire at the Traveler desk for information regarding GPS rentals.
By train: from El Puerto de Santa Maria train station, you will make a connection in Sevilla to reach Malaga. The website for train information is www.renfe.es.

Marbella
With its gorgeous beaches that stretch for miles and a more sophisticated atmosphere than much of the Costa del Sol, it's no wonder that Marbella and the cosmopolitan area of Puerto Banus, attract the rich and famous. Marbella's center, however, retains its aspect of an important merchant town occupied by the Phoenicians, Greeks, Romans, and Arabs. Remnants of its history can be seen in the well-preserved architecture and streets of the Casco Antiguo. Today Marbella serves primarily as an elegant beachside retreat for a wealthy international crowd.

POINTS OF INTEREST

Plaza de los Naranjos
The Orange Square is the center of Marbella and is one of the most beautiful plazas in the Costa del Sol. Located in this square are the city hall, the Casa del Corregidor palace, and the Ermita de Santiago (chapel). Enjoy the outdoor seating at one of many restaurants in the square.

Avenida del Mar
This beautiful walkway from downtown Marbella to the Paseo Maritimo has fountains, yellow marble floors, and a wonderful view of the sea. What makes this walkway special are the ten bronze sculptures of the surrealist artist, Dali.

Puerto Banus
This town was built as a typical Andalucian fishing village along the marina. Docked in the marina are some of the most impressive yachts in the world- many owned by the king and princes of Saudi Arabia. It’s considered one of the premier Mediterranean resorts because of the luxury stores, nightlife, and the jet setters who flock there every year. Now they have a Hard Rock Café for those interested in good American cuisine.

Casco Antiguo (Old town) is comprised of small cobble stoned streets lined with little craft stores and boutiques.

La Cañada Shopping Mall is the largest shopping mall in the Costa del Sol with 150 shops.

OTHER SIGHTS

- Aquarium Puerto Banús
- Beautiful Parks – Alameda, Parque de Constitución, and Arroyo de la Represa
- Funny Beach – has an amusement park
- El Cable Beach – has summer evening concerts and entertainment
- Roman Villa – in Rio Verde see the remains of a Roman villa
- Marbella Ralli Museum – houses the most important collection of Latin-American art in Europe, including art from Dalí, Max Ernst, & Miró.

LOCAL CULTURE

Street market of Marbella: every Monday from 9 am to 2 pm, at the fair site (Las Albarizas area).
FESTIVALS AND SPECIAL EVENTS

Semana Santa – celebrated from Palm Sunday to Good Friday and then Easter Sunday

Cruz del Juanar – (May 3rd) A procession climbs up the mountain where the Cross of Juanar is located.

San Bernabe Fair – (June) The most important day is June 11, which is the Commemoration of the Christian Conquest.

The night of San Juan – night in June, celebrated on beaches; people dip their feet in the sea after midnight for good luck.

Virgin del Carmen – (July 16) This patron saint of sailors is celebrated with a procession of the image of the virgin in a boat decorated with flowers.

The Three Wise Men Parade – (Jan 6) Three men dress up as the kings ride and ride in town on mules or horses giving out sweets to children.

Mérida
The capitol of Extremadura, Mérida, was one of the most famous Roman capitols of the Iberian Peninsula, and it boasts some of the best preserved Roman ruins in Europe. Extremadura had a history of Moorish and Christian occupation in Spain, and Merida itself was passed between Christian, Moorish, and even Portuguese control. It was founded in the year 25 BC, with the name of Emerita Augusta (meaning discharged soldiers of the army of Augustus who founded the city and later becoming Mérida) by order of Emperor Augustus, to protect a pass and a bridge over the Guadiana river. This a fabulous place to visit Roman ruins, next to Rome. Mérida will not disappoint with its archaeological excavations, and the Moorish influence adds a grace of its own to the town.

POINTS OF INTEREST

The Alcazaba
Hours of Operation: Jun-Sept: 0930-1345; 1700-1915 (Oct-May closes 1815). The Alcazaba (Citadel) is a 9th century Muslim fortress and the first Arab fortress of the Iberian Peninsula. The interior of the Arab fortress preserves a Roman aljibe (underground reservoir) which was rebuilt and decorated with Visigothic pilasters. Don’t miss out on the great views from the top.

Teatro Romano
Hours of Operation: Jun-Sept: 930-1345; 1700-1915 (Oct-May closes 1815). The Roman Theater is one of the most emblematic constructions in Merida. It was built by Agrippa in 18 B.C. with seating for 6000 people. In June and July plays are performed here.

Roman Amphitheater
Hours of Operation: Jun-Sept: 0930-1345; 1700-1915 (Oct-May closes 1815). This ancient Roman amphitheatre dates back to 8 BC and was used for gladiators and ferocious animal games.

Templo de Diana
The Goddess temple of Diana is an enormous building that is probably one of the most majestic of those in Mérida. It is also one of the religious buildings that remained on its original site.

Puente Romano
The Roman bridge crosses over the Guadiana River. It is the longest surviving bridge from ancient times, having once featured an estimated overall length of 755 meters with 62 arches. The bridge stands out for its monumental size, 800 meters long with 60 arches, making it one of the largest ones in the Empire at the time.

Museo Nacional de Arte Romano (National Museum of Roman Art)
Hours of Operation: Mar-Nov: 1000-1400; 1600-2100 (Dec-Feb closes at 1800). Sun 1000-1400; closed Mon. This colossal Roman legacy is documented in the National Museum of Roman Art, where the history of the city can be explored through a priceless collection of artifacts found in Merida and its vicinity.

Church of Santa Eulalia
Hours of Operation: Jun-Sept: 1000-1345, 1700-1915 (Oct-May closes 1815); closed Sun and holidays. This church dates back to the 4th century but rebuilt in the 13th century. In the atrium of the church is a well preserved chapel, "Hornito," in honor of the martyr Santa Eulalia built with ruins of what was once a Roman temple dedicated to the god Mars. During the early Middle Ages this was a place of pilgrimage of the entire peninsula and much of Europe.
OTHER SITES
- Aqueduct of Los Milagros – this well-preserved aqueduct crossed the Abarregas River and supplied the city with water from the Roman dam of Proserpina.
- Circus Maximus - a Roman hippodrome used for chariot racing; modeled after the Circus Maximus in Rome.
- Catedral de Santa María la Mayor de Mérida
- Trajan's Arch - entrance arch, located in the main route of the city.

FESTIVALS AND EVENTS
February – Roman Carnival
Between March and April - Semana Santa (Holy Week)
July and August - the Roman Theater and amphitheater has shows including Greek dramas and other performances.
September - City’s main feria is held
September 8 - Extremadura Day
Dec 10 - Santa Eulalia de Mérida: marks the Day of the Patron of the City, the martyr Santa Eulalia

TRAVELER TIPS
It's better to buy a combined ticket which provides access to most of the city's main sites rather than individual tickets.
Go to the International Classical Theatre Festival which takes place every summer in Merida.
Visit the Plaza de España for places to eat or to purchase some pottery or marble souvenirs.

TRANSPORTATION
Car: Drive time takes approximately 3-1/2 hours. Visit www.viamichelin.com for driving directions.

Bus: The station is on Avenida de la Libertad near the train station. There are fewer buses from Madrid, but many connections from Seville.

Trains: The RENFE station in Merida is located on Calle Cardero. You can reach this train station from Madrid and from Seville. Visit www.renfe.es/ingles for times and prices.
